As the investigators delve deeper into the mystery of Blackwood Manor, they uncover a chilling truth: the restless spirits that haunt the halls are bound to the house by a powerful and malevolent force. This force seeks to keep the spirits trapped in a cycle of pain and suffering, preventing them from finding peace and moving on to the afterlife.

To break the cycle and free the spirits, the investigators must find a way to sever the connection between them and the house. This proves to be a daunting task, as the spirits are deeply entrenched in the fabric of the manor. Their presence has seeped into the walls, the floors, and the very air itself.

Undeterred, the investigators embark on a quest to find the source of the malevolent force. They search every nook and cranny of the house, uncovering hidden rooms and secret passages. They consult with local historians and paranormal experts, seeking knowledge that might help them break the spirits' connection to the house.

To break the spirits' connection to the house, the investigators must destroy the cursed artifact. This is no easy task, as the artifact is protected by powerful enchantments.
